18 LOSE LIVES IN SHIP BLAST

50 Injured as British Vessel Rocks from Explosion at Sea.

By The Associated Press

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 12—Eighteen dead or dying men and more than 50 injured were brought ashore today from the British liner Reina Del Pacifico, which docked here badly damaged by an explosion at sea.

While hundreds crowded the dock area, the 17,702-ton motorship was towed in and police began an inquiry, studying among other things what they described as the possibility of sabotage.

The wartime troop transport, on a trial run after being refitted for resumption of peacetime service, was torn by an engineroom blast yesterday about 12 miles north of Copeland island, which lies near the mouth of Belfast bay.

An SOS brought five tugs and a lifeboat carrying doctors and nurses. One of the doctors reported 34 of the injured "terribly burned" and said some probably would die.

Fifteen men were killed outright and three died this morning in hospitals.

The injured, taken off at sea in lifeboats, were put in hospitals in Bangor, Donaghadee and Newtownards.

Belfast newspapers said only crewmen, technicians and a "few officials" of the line, the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, were aboard at the time of the explosion.

Reporters, kept away from the vessel, were told by James Campbell, 23-year-old carpenter for the company:

"You would not know the ship. She is badly mashed up. The bulkheads are twisted and the decks are up."

AKRON POLIO CAUSES GRID TILT CALL-OFF

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Sept. 12—Infantile paralysis cases in the Akron area increased to 249 today, and because of the outbreak a high school football game at nearby Norton Center was cancelled.

Five new cases were reported yesterday when officials of Oberlin High school in Lorain county notified Norton High the spread of polio in this area had resulted in a decision to call off the contest. Supt. A. R. Gaffga of Norton said Uniontown of neighboring Stark county would play in place of Oberlin when Norton dedicates a new memorial stadium tonight.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, Ohio health director, and Herschel Engler of Chicago, U. S. public health engineer, declared in a fight the poliomyelitis menace meeting at city hall yesterday that they saw no reason to close down schools and ban public meetings so late in the season and after the disease had a head start.

Dr. Porterfield said he could find no explanation for Akron having "a higher poliomyelitis rate than other Ohio cities for some years," and added:

"Everything that can be done from a medical point of view is being done here now. There is nothing specific that we could recommend that would help beyond advice for a general cleanup of the city."

Engler came out flatly against what he said would be a $19,000 expenditure for spraying Akron from the air with DDT.

"The fly count would go down just eight hours, then go right back where it started," he maintained. No city-wide fly-control

Cost of Living Expected To Go On Rising for Next Six Months

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—The cost of living already at an all-time high level, probably will continue to go up for at least five or six more months.

Despite present high living costs, government economists predicted today that consumers will be paying even more for virtually all essential items by next spring.

Bureau of labor statistics and agriculture department officials warned that no "break" in the inflationary price trend is in sight although they are hopeful living costs may start downward in 1948.

The economists believe that rising food prices will spearhead a continued upward trend in the cost of living. They forecast higher bread, meat, butter, egg, milk and poultry prices in the coming months.

Other Items To Go Up

A BLS official also predicted some slight increases in the prices of clothing and building materials, the other major items in the cost of living.

One agriculture economist attributed the soaring food prices to the high income level coupled with a tremendous demand in the face of prospects for a small corn crop.

Summing up the situation, the BLS spokesman declared:

"We hope for a price 'break' about the first of the year, but our hope is not based on fact."

This official warned that "if rent control goes off, then the cost of living really will go up."

Situation Summed Up

Here's the price situation as viewed by the government economists:

Bread—A one-cent a pound increase appears likely although bread prices now are at the highest level in the nation's history.

Meat—The short corn crop, basic livestock feed, means less meat at higher prices next spring and summer.

Butter—Prices are hovering near the all-time peak reached last October and will continue to go up for at least two more months.

Eggs—Prices may hit a new record high within the next week and keep going up. Egg prices now are only 10 cents a dozen below the 1920 peak.

Milk—Seasonal price increases are expected which may drive milk prices above the record average of 20.3 cents a quart set last December.

Poultry—A shortage of feed supplies in the wake of the poor corn crop will cause chicken and turkey prices to rise about next February.

Clothing—Prices now are 54 per cent above 1936, but far below the all-time high of 1920. It looks like there will be further increases.

Building Materials—Now price peak reached in July and BLS economists anticipate slightly higher prices.

Organized Buyer Resistance Rises As Prices Rocket

By The United Press

Organized buyer resistance developed rapidly across the nation today as the price of food shot upward again.

Housewives, alarmed at the steady rise in prices, determined to quit talking about high prices and do something about them. Labor unions in many parts of the country got behind the housewives. The idea of forcing prices down caught on rapidly.

The buyer resistance developed along two lines—one old, the other new.

The first was an old method: tighten the belt and refuse to buy any more than absolutely necessary. Individual housewives boomed this method with chain phone calls, urging neighbors to tie up their purse strings.

The second method was new. It was the formation of cooperatives by buyers, usually sponsored by unions. Their plan aimed at eliminating middle-man profits. They bought in bulk, and sold food at cost.

One way or the other, the average man appeared determined to halt runaway prices that spiraled up, up and up.

Union officials in Detroit started the cooperative movement. But an official of the St. Louis consumer federation sounded the keynote.

GALION, Sept. 12 — Double funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m., at the Volk funeral home for Bruce and Nina B. Judge Rules Wife Has Right To Rifle Pockets

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12—Male court attendans winced and women in the courtroom nodded approval when Circuit Judge Eugene J. Sartorious held that a wife short of ready cash has a "legal as well as moral right" to rifle the pockets of her sleeping husband.

"Why even my wife does that and I can't do a thing about it," the judge said.

The ruling came when the court dismissed yesterday a divorce case cross bill in which Ransom M. Robinson, 25, alleged that his wife repeatedly ransacked his pockets while he was asleep and gave the money to her mother. The judge took under advisement Mrs. Robinson's divorce action.

HALT ON GAS HEATING ASKED

Shortages in Material, Product Cited as Reasons To Curb Installations.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12 — Shortages of natural gas and the steel to transport it were prominently mentioned by C. L. Weaver, president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., as reasons the industry would ask the state utilities commission to halt new heating service connections.

Weaver said the recommendations would be made here Saturday during a hearing to consider "uniform rules for curtailment" of gas service during next winter.

The commission declined "an emergency event" in calling for the hearing, holding that certain practices of the various companies had produced confusion. All natural gas distributing companies in classes A, B and C were notified of the hearing.

Shortage of Materials

"There is a definite shortage of materials to transport gas to the markets. Increased space heating loads by our customers have produced large winter peaks very difficult to handle," Weaver explained.

He said half a billion cubic feet of gas was lost annually in Texas fields because pipelines to carry it to the industrial Appalachian area do not exist.

Lack of storage space also was blamed for shortages even though, he said, underground storage areas and propane plants have been constructed to help during critical times.

Industrial users have been encouraged to construct standby facilities with which to operate during periods of extremely cold weather, Weaver said, adding however that most were designed for fuel oil which is almost as short as gas.

Coal Prices Blamed

Increased coal prices, causing conversion to gas, was another point noted for the gas shortage.

Weaver said that about five million cubic feet of gas would be supplemented daily next winter from coke ovens, but that Ohio fuel expected to sell 99 billion feet of gas this year. The company sold 65 billion cubic feet of gas in 1946.

Indiana, Michigan, and Pennsylvania have frozen all new gas heating connections, he said, observing that if Ohio tried to get more than its share of big inch gas "we might get punished with a small allocation."

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., the East Ohio Gas Co., of Cleveland and the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., are Ohio's three largest natural gas distributors.

Weaver forecast that the coming winter would bring sharp curtailments of gas to industrial consumers and requests for the public to save gas on cold days.

Weaver said in a prepared statement that facilities and contracts costing the company $6,000,000 last year and $12,000,000 this year would "give immediate relief in the early winter and quantities of gas will increase as the winter progresses."

Expect Improvement

"With these steps," Weaver said, "we expect to be in a better position to render service this winter than last with the same degree of temperatures prevailing. With the temperature at zero or below, however, the shortages will be considerably worse than last winter when the coldest day was nine degrees above zero in February."

"We are expecting approximately 10,000,000 cubic feet daily of additional deliveries from the United Fuel Gas Co., our affiliate in West Virginia," he continued. From Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., contracts with Ohio Fuel we can expect no additional deliveries of gas this coming winter because of shortages to customers along the Panhandle line.

At another point Weaver's statement said there was "no shortage of natural gas," but added:

"There is a definite shortage of materials to transport the gas to the markets. Increased space heating loads by our customers have produced large winter peaks very difficult to handle. Despite sharp-

SPEAKS BEFORE WESTERN BAR

Declares U. S. Won't Enter World State Aiming at Concentration of Power.

By The Associated Press

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., Sept. 12 —Senator Taft, Republican of Ohio, opening a western prospecting tour for the Republican presidential nomination, declared today this country is not going to enter a world state that envisions concentration of all power in a distant capital.

The Ohio senator, who said he will not decide until he returns home after his far western swing whether he will be a candidate, told the state bar of California the New Deal had tried to "get rid of states rights so it could concentrate all power in Washington."

"In my view," he said in a panel discussion at the lawyers meeting, "the great issue today is that of a free people against a totalitarian state."

Backs States Rights

Nothing, the Ohio senator said, could limit freedom further in the United States than the abolition of states rights, adding "who is going to enter a world state if history shows that the federal plan is only a passing phase to the concentration of all power in a distant capital?"

Taft, considered one of the leading contenders for the G.O.P. presidential nomination at next year's party convention, appeared on the panel with James E. Murray, Democrat of Montana, a staunch New Dealer, Charles Halleck of Indiana, house Republican leader and Rep. Ray J. Madden, Democrat of Indiana.

Halleck, himself a potential G.O.P. presidential aspirant, said if the centralization of government continues, "our people will have lost their capacity for self government."

Madden said while both political parties espoused states rights, it was time to consider the rights of cities.

Cites Ohio Example

Turning to Taft's home state, he asserted "Cleveland and Cincinnati together spend more money annually than the state of Ohio."

Expenditures of New York City for retirement of city employes, teachers and its health and child welfare department surpass the combined expenditures of Nevada and Arizona," he said, adding "I wish to emphasize that the time has come for the metropolitan areas of our country to receive more self rule consideration from both state and federal government."

Murray, who voted against enactment of Taft-Hartley labor act said in the forum discussion the law attributes industrial unrest to "scapegoats and shibboleths."

Contending the law would aggravate the grievances of workers, the Montana senator said the act magnifies two of the leading causes of industrial unrest. He listed these as the sense of being unfairly dealt with and "the sense of frustration."

Conservancy District End Is Requested

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—Dissolution and abandonment of the 17-county Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district was requested today by two landowners in a petition filed with the district court.

The petitioners, David H. Sears and Ida L. Hale of Wyandot county, contended that the district was impractical because it embraced two watersheds—the Scioto and Sandusky rivers—and that rumored plans for construction of a huge reservoir were impractical and would cost too much.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—A delegation of 10 or 15 carloads of farmers from Wyandot and Marion counties were to appear at the state office building this afternoon to learn whether the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy district proposes to flood their farms.

The landowners are concerned over a suggestion that a lake be created in the two counties, covering some 45 square mile, to increase the water supply of downstream cities, like Columbus on the Scioto river and Fremont on the Sandusky river.

The delegation, headed by Wyandot County Prosecutor Russell C. Price, was to be heard by the conservancy district court, composed of common pleas court judges of 17 counties in the Scioto and Sandusky river valleys.

Conservancy district officials emphasized the proposal was tentative and may never be realized.

EXPORT CURBS MAY BE USED

Other Controls on U. S. Economy Expected if Marshall Plan Is To Work.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Extensive use of export controls and probably some other forms of government supervision over the American economy may be necessary to make the Marshall plan for European recovery work effectively.

This became apparent today from data being assembled in various divisions of the government. It was indicated particularly by informal reports from President Truman's top committee on foreign aid headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

The Harriman committee, completing its second two-day cycle of conferences, made clear at a news conference that its investigations thus far show that shipments of goods to Europe under the Marshall plan may put additional strains on some tight spots in the American economy.

Examples Cited

Various steel products, some types of farm machinery and food supplies were cited as examples of commodities that may require particularly careful handling in order to minimize the impact of the proposed aid program on the United States.

Chester C. Davis, chairman of the committee's subgroup on food resources and a former war food administrator, said this country eventually may be confronted with the choice between a voluntary cut in consumer use of wheat products and a reimposition of government controls.

At the same time, however,

Wallace "To Back Democrats Until Party Shuns Liberalism"

By The United Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace told a cheering crowd of 20,000 thundering "Wallace for '48" in Madison Square Garden last night that he would "continue to work within the Democratic party" until convinced that it held no hope for liberals.

"If the major parties give the people no choice except 'reactionary capitalism,' a third party may be necessary in 1948, he said.

"If the Democratic party is a war party, if my party continues to attack civil liberties, if both parties stand for high prices and depression—then the people must have a new party of liberty and peace," he declared. "The people must have a choice."

Wallace spoke from the same rostrum where a year ago he denounced the administration's "get tough with Russia" policy. That speech brought about his resignation as secretary of commerce.

He showed no change of opinion over last year. He said Communism was not the cause of the present crisis facing this country. He said the crisis was a financial one brought on by the Truman administration, "monopolistic capitalists and their political errand boys."

Address Rally

Wallace addressed a political rally sponsored by the Progressive Citizens of America. Sharing the speakers stand with him were Paul Robeson and Lena Horne, Negro singers, and Dr. Frank Kingdon, newspaper columnist.

Wallace bitterly attacked U. S. foreign policy which he said followed the philosophy of former President Herbert Hoover and was carried out by military men and Wall Street bankers.

"Under the Republicans Wall Street ran America under the present administration Wall Street is all set to run the world," he said.

"I wish that what I said a year ago could be out-of-date by this time," Wallace declared. "But unfortunately we have made no progress in coming to an understanding with Russia. We now have a clear-cut foreign policy on the Near East, Asia, Africa, a policy for war, not peace. We have ac-

MOST STOCKS STICK ON DOWNSIDE TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—Stocks, with scattered exceptions, operated on the downside in today's market although pressure was lacking throughout.

Early attempts at recovery met with little response but dealings reverted to sluggishness. Declines of fractions were well in the majority near the fourth hour.

Occasional modest advances were recorded by Standard Oil (NJ), Publicker, Schenley, Sperry, North American, Public Service of N. J. and U. S. Gypsum.

Stumblers most of the time included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, U. S. AMVETS PREPARE FOR CONVENTION

Local Post To Send Delegation to Columbus.

A meeting of Glen W. Ashworth Post No. 28, Amvets, Thursday night was in the organization's newly-established quarters at 139 North Main street. Business included planning to attend the national convention to be held at Columbus Oct. 2 to 5, and enrollment of new members.

Charles Morbitt was elected to represent the post at the national convention. Planning to attend also are Paul Simpson, commander, and a number of the members. Amvets, the members point out, is the only exclusively World War II veterans' organizational and international scene gress. With conidtions in the national and international scene growing more and more critical, the forthcoming convention is of great significance, they state. It is planned to have more than 3,000 delegates present for sessions to aid in developing a practical way of bringing about world peace, strengthening the American way of life and aiding the veteran to help himself.

The week of Sept. 15 to 20 has been designated as Amvets national charter membership drive week in commemoration of the signing of the national charter by President Truman on July 23, this year. Any veteran holding an honorable discharge since Sept. 15, 1940, is eligible for membership. Any member of the local post signing four new members will be awarded either a paid up membership for 1948 or a refund of dues for the current year, and for every additional member enrolled will receive $1. The plan will be in effect until Oct. 1, the officers state.

Cause of Boat Blast Is Yet Undetermined

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 12 — The cause of the explosion which destroyed the excursion steamer Island Queen with a probable loss of 20 lives remained a mystery following a Coast Guard inquiry here.

Witnesses, including city firemen who fought the boat blaze and members of the crew, could tell at a hearing yesterday nothing except that there were explosions and that flames seemed to engulf the ship almost immediately.

The blast set fire to the boat's 27,000 gallons of fuel oil. No passengers were aboard.

The river patrol yesterday recovered two bodies from the Monongahela river, increasing the toll of known dead to 14, with six crewmen still missing. The bodies recovered were those of Fred Dickow, about 66, Cincinnati, chief engineer, and William Williams, also of Cincinnati, a member of the crew.

Papers Win Lottery Fight

U. S. Rules Stories, Dealing Incidentally with Drawings, Can Be Printed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept 12—The postoffice department ruled last night that newspapers carrying stories in which there is "incidental" mention of a lottery will not be barred from the mails.

The ruling, a reversal of long-standing policy, represents a new interpretation of the law which provides that newspapers publishing the names of lottery winners are not mailable

The decision followed a challenge by the St Louis Star-Times of the St Louis postmaster's right to bar from the mails its editions which told how a North Carolina Negro held the winning ticket in a lottery for a Cadillac automobile, only to be denied the prize on the ground that the drawing was for whites only

Makes New Ruling

Frank J. DeLany, the department's solicitor, said that after talking it over with Postmaster General Robert E Hannegan he decided·

"Despite the literal wording of the law it was not intended to exclude from the mails publications of such items x x x which have a news value in their own right and in which the lottery element is only incidental to a newsworthy event"

DeLany gave his opinion in a letter to Bernard F. Dickman, the St Louis postmaster who had cautioned the Star-Times about the North Carolina story and said the editions would have been barred from the mails if the account had been noticed in time.

No Suppression Intended

"This law," DeLany said, "was not designed to suppress information of news value to the public, even though incidentally connected with a lottery."

The Star-Times had contended that it was unreasonable to try to keep such stories out of print when there was no law to prevent millions of radio listeners from receiving the same information through newscasts The newspaper declared it would continue to publish such reports as a part of its policy of defending freedom of the press.

DeLany's letter did not touch on whether the ruling would cover another case involving the Baltimore Sun papers, which were cautioned by the postoffice there for publishing on Aug 19 a story about a veteran winning the right to rent a house in a drawing staged by the city of Peoria, Ill

Genial Judge Holds Fate of "Baseball" In Fun-Loving Hands

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Sept. 12 — Firm but fun-loving Judge Earl D. Parker held the answer today as to whether the combined villages of Basil-Baltimore could change their name to "Baseball" —and even he was due to hear a lot of argument about it.

The white-haired, one-armed genial jurist from Pike county, who has heard the pro and con sides of the raging controversy in Fairfield county common pleas court the last three days, said his verdict would not be an easy one to reach.

The two sides fought it out for three days, and tension ran high as neighbor sneered at neighbor in the crowded courtroom. Late yesterday, in the midst of an argument over the number of qualified voters in the community, Judge Parker called Attorneys James S. Peterson of the opposition, and E. Allen Silbaugh of the "Baseball" proponents into his chambers. They were closeted for an hour, and when they emerged the witnesses were dismissed and the opposition rested its case.

Just before the case closed Peterson was permitted to read into the record a petition bearing 490 names of persons in the village opposing the name change, and the proponents were allowed to add 28 new names to their petitions asking that "Baseball" be adopted.

Read into the record were telegrams from Frank Lane, president of the American association, and Warren C. Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, favoring the name of "Baseball."

Rent Control Extension Seen

4 Senators Agree Congress Will Probably Vote Curbs After Feb. 29.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Four senators who often differ on legislative matters agreed today that congress is likely to vote an extension of rent controls beyond next Feb. 29.

Senators McCarthy (R-Wis), Flanders (R-Vt), Sparkman (D-Ala) and Myers (D-Pa) voiced their predictions in separate interviews.

Myers only yesterday said he believes congress should be summoned into special session by early November to tackle the problems of rising living costs at home and aid to Europe.

He declared it is "apparent that our economy is threatened by inflation today as it was by military aggression a few years ago."

Sparkman commented that he has opposed proposals to extend and resume wartime controls "except as a last resort," but added:

"It looks as though we are about at the last resort now."

McCarthy, sponsor and vice-chairman of the current congressional housing investigation, said he believes that much of the past opposition to federal rent controls will fade "if actual control rests back in the local advisory boards set up under the present law."

Under the compromise rent extension bill which squeaked through the last session, governors of the 48 states were allowed to nominate local advisory boards for each of the 614 rental control areas.

"I expect the housing and rental situation to improve before the rent law expires," McCarthy said "It should not be a great problem then but a few areas may need an extension of controls"

Flanders, who is directing one of the three nationwide price investigations, said rents are second only to food in the living costs of the average family, adding:

"There would have been much less opposition in the last congress to the extension, if OPA had done a good job on actual landlord hardship cases. I think there will be less opposition next time to an extension."

ASSISTANT LABOR SECRETARY QUITS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12 — Assistant Secretary of Labor Phil Hannah said "emasculation" of the labor department and passage of the Taft-Hartley act were reasons for his resignation yesterday from the labor department.

Hannah, ranking AFL officer in the labor department, told a building and construction trades council meeting the resignation would be effective "when William Green and Labor Secretary Schwellenbach select a man from the ranks of labor to take my place.

"Since passage of the Taft-Hartley act and the emasculation of the labor department by cutting its funds by 30 per cent, I feel my usefulness in Washington is about terminated," he said.

Labor Secretary Schwellenbach said in Washington that Hannah had been talking of resigning "for some time" but had not submitted a formal resignation

Schwellenbach said he expected the AFL labor council, meeting in Chicago, to discuss possible successors to Hannah and explained that it was customary for the AFL and CIO each to have a high ranking officer in the labor department.

Hannah told the construction council he had received senate criticism for speaking against the Taft-Hartley bill, and said he believed the law to be "unconstitutional, in part at least."

"Although it is the law of the land, there is nothing in the that prohibits me from sa[illegible] Taft-Hartley law is a bad and should be repealed from first word to its last sen[illegible] he declared.

He termed a "blow to the unity of labor" what he called failure of congress to provide sufficient funds for the labor department.

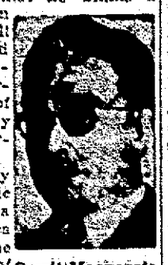
The European crisis is rapidly worsening and Secretary of State Marshall tells us that temporary aid, which only congress can authorize, must be provided this year "to meet the immediate threat of intolerable hunger and cold"—an intimation that he thinks a special session of congress will be needed, and a sharp reminder to the American public of further heavy cash expenditures to be met.



DewittMackenzie

Simultaneously London has made an urgent plea that America take over the major portion of Britian's occupation costs in Germany, totaling $380,000,000 yearly, and there are reports in Washington that the request will be granted. This comes on top of the estimate by the sixteen nation conference in Paris that the U. S. will have to provide some $21,000,000,000 over a period of four years to make the Marshall rehabilitation program function.

Hit U. S. Taxpayers

These fresh obligations hit the American taxpayer on a raw and very tender spot—his pocketbook. He is specially concerned in view of the spiralling cost of living in his own country, and is uncomfortably reminded that the United States spent over $287,000,000,000 towards "winning" the war. He recalls that the Axis powers surrendered in 1945, and he wants to know 'what the heck." That's a natural reaction, and it comes hard for your columnist—with frugal Scotch blood in his veins—to have to point to a fallacy in the idea that World War II really is over.

Wars of such magnitude reach a momentum which can't be stopped by a yell of "enough." Its form changes, but it still grinds on as an economic catastrophe because of the vast expenditure in human lives and in resources of all kinds.

So World War II isn't finished by a long shot. Not only is it continuing as an economic crisis, marked by stark hunger in many countries, but there has been super-imposed a conflict of political isms—aggressive communism versus western democracy — which might lead to another global upheaval unless the rival ideologies can reach some understanding of live and let live.

Part of War

Therefore the further sacrifices which we are being asked to make now must be regarded as part and parcel of the obligations of the war which we should like to regard as concluded. And our contribution isn't wholly altruism, since the welfare of the United States and the rest of the Western Hemisphere is bound up in the welfare of Eurasia.

To put it coldly, if the Eastern Hemisphere should go under economically, the Western Hemisphere could scarcely hope to avoid disaster.

Then, too, the crucial battle of the isms is being fought in Europe. The Western Hemisphere's front line is there.

Thus we likely shall find the situation less irksome if we reconcile ourselves to the unchangeable fact that we still have a war to finish, be had from the knowledge that the present stage of the conflict is vastly cheaper to finance than was the phase of guns.

The economic pundits foresee at least four years of struggle to put Europe on its feet, with Britain, France, Italy and Germany as the focal zones for rehabilitation. This quartet represents four of the five great powers of the continent before the war. Upon the greatest power of all, America, they now depend heavily for aid to regain their feet.

Grange Inspection Plans Completed

Plans were completed for annual inspection to be held at the next meeting, Sept. 23, when United Grange met Tuesday night in the Grange hall. Also at that meeting, the county quartet contest will be held.

For the program, a vocal duet was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lashey, and a talk on soil conservation was given by C. W. Baldinger. Following the program, a miscellaneous shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dunkin who were recently married. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Epley, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Retterer and Mr. and Mrs. John Frayer.

Labor Eggs in a Political Basket

ONE of the lessons to be learned from defeat of union-backed candidates in elections such as the special election last Tuesday in Pennsylvania's 8th congressional district is this:

Samuel Gompers knew something about politics too.

The men who made unionism in the United States something more than an outlet for our native Bolshevists knew that a labor union was not a political party and that if it tried to be one it wouldn't be a labor union any more.

Because he was interested in working people, not politics, Gompers preached that in the United States class warfare was unnecessary. He believed the welfare of the working people depended on negotiating with capitalism, not playing footey with the followers of Marx.

He warned that unions had nothing but headaches to gain from entangling alliances with politicians. The politicians sometimes got licked, but unions never should get licked; therefore, stay away from partisan politics

Gompers never would have made the mistake of letting unions under his control get so tied up with one man in one party that the man's death would leave the unions holding the bag. To him that would have been a gross betrayal of union leadership's responsibility to the members.

The master-minds that have put the eggs of labor in one political basket will need to think up something better than their shrieks of indignation over the Taft-Hartley act to cover up their mistake.

The Floating Rocket Platform

USE of a warship to launch a rocket "marks the beginning of a new era in naval authority on guided missiles after witnessing a rocket test aboard the carrier Midway. The test wasn't spectacular, the rocket traveling only six miles. But it's a start. Floating platforms haven't hampered the accuracy or range of big guns.

Aircraft carriers, with covering craft, were considered important pawns on World War II's naval strategy chessboard. If they can be adapted to serve as launching bases for really long-range rockets (100 miles or more) they will become an even more important factor in sea warfare.

Adapted for fast, heavily-armed cruisers, rocket launching platforms could revolutionize sea warfare.

Each new development in war-making methods—atomic warheads, bacteriological warfare, guided missiles—places a new urgency on the necessity of finding a way to keep the peace.

Peach Picking Time

THE weather has been hard on some crops this season, but peaches are thriving. Ohio's crop will exceed 1,000,000 bushels, more than twice the 1946 figure.

Ohio is first-rate peach country. Georgia peaches are better known by reputation and California grows more, but Ohio needn't take a back seat to either state on taste and quality.

These are the days when pickers are going through Ohio orchards stripping the boughs of their golden burden. Some peaches will be eaten fresh; more will be canned or made into preserves. Whatever way they are served, peaches are a delectable, nutritious fruit, just as esteemed in America as they were in ancient Persia where they were developed from the almond tree.

One on Rye, To Go

NATIONAL sandwich week is being observed as all America breaks out in a lather of indifference. The climax will come next Monday with announcement of the nation's favorite sandwich, based on what is most in demand at restaurants these days.

It's a poor time to survey the nation's sandwich preferences. If everyone were a millionaire, or if meat prices were low, the favorite might be fillet mignon between slices of rye. With meat prices what they are, fish paste and watercress will show unexpected strength and there will be some who vow they subsist on fried onion rings in buns.

There are dark days for the man who likes a sandwich well charged with meat. The era of the two-bit hamburger is here and at least one place they charge four bits, although the man swears it is chopped sirloin and puts on an extra dab of piccalili as a bonus. Tastes just like the dime hamburger of old, though.

As for the staple of many a stenographer's lunch, the bacon-lettuce-and-tomato special, the bacon comes first in name only. But the old standby, the hot dog (canis edibilis) holds its own quite well both as to price and filling quality. With the poll based on sales volume at humbler lunch counters, it's a morning-line favorite to win.

News Behind the News

Truman Turns Down Round of Political Speeches.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—In certain private meetings with Democratic politicos, President Truman made an unannounced and unreported decision, turning down outright political action to offset Dewey and Taft on the stump. Mr. Truman said this is not the time.

Several speaking engagements pressed by local leaders were turned down by the White House. Not much was done politically with Labor day or the American Legion convention by the President. In meetings with the men who urged him to get out and campaign, Mr. Truman said generally he thinks his best chance is to be a good President. He seems convinced campaign speaking would not do much good.

Possibly the President is mindful that foreign developments may overturn, and have more effect on politics than speeches could, before the conventions start next June. His advisors also generally agree his position on the politically dominant Taft-Hartley union reform bill does not need political advertising, as he has taken the union side and is somewhat embarrassingly in charge of enforcement.

So it looks like all the top White House politicos are satisfied now is the time to remain quiet, (but not the national committee, of course). Mr. Truman will politically go down the line with the unions and New Deal, but will fight Wallace and the Commie activities (his friends say this although his talk has tended to keep Wallace in the Democratic fold).

Sensitive to Criticism

Personal acquaintances report he was privately sensitive at first to criticism that he was not a big man, did not have extraordinary dignity and so on. Now, their observations are that he is falling into the politician's love of horseplay, is regarding the presidency as a high office instead of something to provide him with personal power for a political machine, and generally is quite satisfied to let things go as they have been.

The somewhat guarded Legion announcement of Gov. Dewey for the youth draft military training, brought him forward on a national subject in response to the grumbling heard in Republican ranks that he had not taken forthright stands on big issues of the day. His Washington friends say he will speak out more nationally and internationally, from now on.

An inside story is going around (definite details are lacking) that Dewey has mended some trouble in his up-state New York delegation. Certain up-state Republicans had been questioning what Dewey might do in the White House, were not sure, and started talking privately. But this situation is now said to be fully straightened out and there is no question of the unanimous support he will get from New York.

Results of Taft's speaking tour will largely tell the tale for the Ohioan, although his candidacy has received stronger private growth within the party than has been advertised. Last spring the swing was to Dewey because of Taft's connection with union reform; now a reaction has set in attributable to the growth of feeling that the bill may not be unpopular. One newsmen who made a survey of state leaders has written that Taft has the greatest leadership strength within the party at this time.

Eisenhower and Warren

Both General Eisenhower and Governor Warren are credited with being sincere in their recent renunciations of incipient campaigns. Before their public disavowal, they let friends circulate the word of their lack of interest, and then made it public. Eisenhower does not think he will be an important figure, despite the Kansas City campaign for him, but the presidency of Columbia is a good place from which to view efforts in his behalf academically. The California delegation here discounts current reports of a coalition between Dewey and Warren. Perhaps the news that Warren would not be a candidate and was not an aspirant, was put out to offset these persistent but untraceable reports.

I Never Saw a Purple Buck

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts wants to vary the colors of the nation's money.

Shortly, if the lady has her way, there'll be something new under the sun... pink greenbacks.

The idea, one presumes, is to make the dollar attractive enough to compensate for the decline in its purchasing power.

This would not only serve an immediate purpose, but would also lend itself to variety in the event, as some economists fear, inflation gets bad enough to warrant its use as wallpaper.

Meanwhile, the suggestion will find widespread support among the ladies, who would like nothing better than an opportunity to acquire a bank-roll to match any ensemble.

Maybe I'm just old-fashioned, but I find currency green still my favorite color. Besides, who wants to turn the staid old bureau of printing and engraving into an Easter egg factory?

Current Events for Soldiers

How Army Explains the Marshall Plan.

MEMBERS of the army are required to attend a one-hour "orientation period" on current events each week. For those in charge of the sessions the Army Information Branch of the War Department special staff prepares a weekly "Armed Forces Talk" pamphlet covering the week's topics.

As an example of these pamphlets. No. 190 covers the Marshall Plan, presenting both in detail and in outline the highlights with italicized questions throughout the text in order that the speaker may use them to bring his audience into the discussion.

First it relates how Secretary Marshall proposed the plan June 5 in a speech at Harvard University. The plan is summarized as follows: "The dislocations of European life . . . are far more serious and deep-seated than they were at first assumed; to remedy the situation requires the breaking of a vicious circle caused by a shortage of money and goods for exchange and the restoring of confidence of the European people in the economic future of their own countries and of Europe as a whole.

"But American aid in the future in this direction should not be piecemeal . . . European countries must get together on their own initiative to draft a program for mutual cooperation in helping themselves to get Europe back on its feet. The role of America is to give friendly aid in drafting the program and of later support of such a program so far as it may be practical for us to do so . . . with our understanding help a lasting solution to the European problem can be found."

THE pamphlet then has a look at what is wrong with Europe: The breakdown of business after almost 10 years of war; unstable currencies; no credit; scarcity of goods and food; low morale, and spiritual deterioration.

Next the pamphlet examines answers to "What does a healthy Europe mean to the United States and to the whole world?" It says our European interests are twofold. First, a healthy Europe will mean great markets for the goods we wish to sell. Second: It points out that if Europe disintegrates economically, it will disintegrate politically. People who see no hope for the future under present governments will turn back to totalitarianism.

"Fascism is, for the moment, beaten down," it says, "but we have not stamped it out. Communism is a well organized and ruthless force. Both are the opposite of our democratic way of life. The security of the United States and our hopes for peace in the world would be gravely endangered if Europe should enter into economic bankruptcy and so lose her ideals of freedom and democracy."

As to why Russia refused to join in a plan for European recovery, the pamphlet points out that many doubt if Russia wants a healthy Europe because it would not serve Soviet objectives. It also suggests that Russia doesn't want American help breaking the Communist grip on eastern Europe.

On the question of whether the United States can afford to give further aid to Europe, the pamphlet does not venture an opinion, but merely points out that experts are studying the problem.

It concludes with the observation that the Marshall concept of European rehabilitation will be a real test of the European nations' ability to put aside selfish nationalism and work together for continental recovery.

Time Table Shortened

By JOSEPH ALSOP

ROME, Sept. 12—Just about eighteen years ago, a chain of events that ended with Adolf Hitler in the Reichschancellery and sixteen million jobless in the United States, began one fine morning with the over-extension of a bank in Vienna. It was the collapse of the Austrian Kreditanstalt that touched off the great depression that was, in turn, the prelude to the second great war. From the angle of vision of Rome, it seems quite likely that the August run of the British treasury will prove to be a comparable event.

Until a few weeks ago, it was still possible to hope that the political and economic situation in Western Europe might be maintained in a sort of precarious stability at least until the end of this year. A December special session of congress would then have come to Europe's rescue just in time. Now, however, the time table has been shortened by nearly three months, by the run on the British treasury and the resulting suspension of Sterling convertibility.

The reason for this is simple. The tiny reserve of hard cash nervously guarded by Dr. Mennichella at the Banca d'Italia is over two-thirds in Sterling—35 million pounds worth. With their Sterling frozen, Premier de Gasperi and his cabinet have only enough dollars to continue buying abroad for a few weeks. In about a month most of the flow of imports into Italy will dry up. Italian industry will then begin to grind to a halt for want of coal and raw materials. And the Italian people will begin to starve for want of bread.

Clear View Ahead

Nor will the process end there, by any means. What lies ahead for Europe and the world is already only too plainly discernible here in Italy. It is like a ghastly laboratory demonstration, eccentrically conducted in brilliant weather on the vast, baroque stage of this breathtakingly beautiful city.

Premier de Gasperi and his financial expert have adopted a policy for dealing with the crisis. Their object is to maintain the slender bread ration of the people for a long as possible. To this end they are using all their remaining dollars for grain purchases. They have suspended coal purchases in the United States already. They are already halting importations of raw materials for manufacture. They have sharply raised the discount rate. And they are putting heavy pressure on the country's industries to liquidate their stocks of finished goods by export, in order to squeeze the last drops of dollar-productivity from the Italian economy.

Anyone can see that this policy is simply a policy of total despair. It may temporarily produce a few more dollars to buy a few weeks longer supply of wheat. But it will also hasten the day when there are no more Italian goods to be exported, and when the resulting need for dollars to buy wheat for the people will thus be immeasurably multiplied. Yet what other line is open to the unhappy de Gasperi, the harassed Dr. Mennichella, and their colleagues?

Dangers Obvious

Anyone can see further that this is an infection which will spread like the plague. In the grim existance of the British people, for example, not the least important bright spots are Italian textiles, fruit, vegetables, cheese and other products.

The British, in their own hard straits, have refused to sell to the Italians copper, lead, oil, and a long list of other key raw materials except for dollars. With the Italian market cut off, the British export drive will be sharply set back. And the British people will be forced to tighten their belts another cruel notch.

In greater or less degree, the same will hold true for almost every nation of western Europe. All live by the exchange of goods. The tremendous premium on dollars and the incipient dollar famine are beginning to halt the exchange of goods. Initially the results will be similar to the effects of an ordinary business depression. Here in Italy, for instance, steep rises in unemployment should occur in October and the end of October is also the date beyond which the cut in the bread ration cannot be postponed. In the long run, however, the process will result in something much more like the collapse of the whole complex structure which we call western civilization.

Anyone can see, finally, that our surrounding oceans will not insulate the United States against a disaster of this magnitude. Under the circumstances it would seem considerably cheaper and more businesslike to prevent the disaster by making the needed dollars available.

Odd Letter Boxes

The jaws of the skull are wired so that they will clamp hard on letters shoved into them by the postman on his daily rounds. The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Heavy Drinker Bows Out

One striking thing about the national situation today is that it is becoming harder and harder to take a drink. The high cost of living is discouraging the rumpots everywhere. Carrie Nation, were she around today, could throw away her ax. All she would need to do would be a price list.

* * *

Anybody could be a lush in the days of economic normalcy. There was no trick at all to being crocked half the time. It required no financial skill for a fellow to go around singing Sweet Adeline quartets.

* * *

Liquor was the refuge of the victim of adversities. Today if you are up against adversities you can't even afford a couple of beers.

* * *

The whole liquor picture has changed to such an extent that the W. C. T. U. and the other temperance organizations have nothing to fight them. The old-time saloon used to be a warm, friendly place where you went to get away from worries about money and other material things. Now you have to worry about money before you can enter. You now leave a barroom to find solace.

* * *

A man once went into a saloon for sympathy. Today he needs it as he contemplates the ruin. He used to go to Mooney & Kennedy's to forget his troubles. Now he has plenty of troubles figuring how he can finance the trip.

* * *

The Old Soak used to be crocked by noon of any day, with no financial strain whatever. Today it is nightfall at the end of the third week before he has been able to raise the money.

* * *

The old-timer went to a bar to get away from all talk of net, gross, overhead, carrying charges, percentages, etc. He could stay two or three hours on a dollar, indulging at least once in a cordial 'This round is on me." Today a ten-minute stay is a venture in big business. If a man says, "See what the boys in the backroom will have" you assume he is a corporation mogul, a banker, an embezzler or a refugee from the booby-hatch.

* * *

There were big spenders a generation ago who never got over $35 a week. Today (and with prices of liquor still going up) a man has to be in the upper brackets to have three drinks for himself and set 'em up once a day.

* * *

The most indignant editorial we ever read was written back home the day, somewhere around 1917, when cocktails went up from 10 cents (two for a quarter) to 15 cents straight. There was real feeling in it.

* * *

We pity the serious drinker these days. His lot is a difficult one. Weak? Why the Old Soak has to be strong to accomplish it. Lacking in will power? Nonsense! He has to be the possessor of an iron resolution, a fellow of infinite resourcefulness, something of a financial genius to get a couple of snifters a day

* * *

You can't look at a rumpot today without regarding him in somewhat the same light that you regard the conqueror who scaled the Alps, the ragged urchin who overcame great obstacles, the financial wizard who started out against terrific handicaps and attained his goal. Cutting down alcoholism? Why, it's slowly being wiped out.

UNCLE SAM, reacting to that proposal to redistribute the Fort Knox gold, might quote from Hamlet:

"Oh, my offense is rank, it smells to Heaven."

* * *

Maybe Ernie, on the other hand has his Keats mixed up and would put it:

"Much have I traveled in the realms of gold,
And many goodly forts and metals seen."

Bob Burns relays the story of the rumpot who entered a barroom, took three hookers and then walked up one wall, down the ceiling and down the other wall in departing. "What do you make of that?" asked a startled customer.

"Oh, that feller," was the bored reply. "Don't mind him. After he's had a couple he never bothers to say 'Good night!'".

At Los Alamos, atomic energy has been harnessed to do peaceful work. We want to get a little to open a seashore bureau drawer.

Lots of Luck

By TRUMAN TWILL

The opening of another school year having been blessedly survived, thousands of mothers now can flop back in easy chairs and start resting up for Christmas vacation while the heroines and heroes of the teaching profession try their hand at beating a little sense into the rising generation.

Whatever dents they made last school year were ironed out during the summer while the little darlings wasted their time and talents doing a million things with no bearing on formal education. The teachers now must start new dents in the heads of the impressionable (who said so?) young.

The young must be taught there is more to life in the 20th century than swimming, playing baseball, traveling, climbing trees, digging caves, being quick on the draw and riding bicycles.

They must be taught it is more important to put their nose in a book and keep it there until they have absorbed a double helping of the dry contents than it is to build a tree house that won't fall down; that it is more important to know about apostrophes and the products of Ecuador than basketball, football and the latest slang expressions.

They must be persuaded, if possible, that ability to read poetry is more important than knowing where to dig to find fishworms in dry weather; how to swim under water, pilot an airplane; tie knots in a piece of rope; and to know the names of the most popular juke-box tunes.

The teachers must devise ways and means of getting the minds of the pupils off such adventure, food, movie stars, coin collections, games, steam shovels, comic books and circuses and getting their minds on arithmetic, history, the ineffable joys of a dead language called Latin, and a live one called French, instead.

The pupils must be convinced it is for their own good to keep their hands and faces clean, to present the appearance at all times of civilized persons, to be polite to their betters; the schoolteachers — and in all ways to conduct themselves in a manner befitting ladies and gentlemen instead of tribesmen from the interior of Australia.

This is to wish the schoolteacher a lot of luck. The mothers and fathers of the rising generation feel pretty discouraged at the end of another summer. We made no progress. This is with no regret but numerous misgivings that we now turn over the hopeless cases to the teachers again, with the pious hope that some improvement may be noted by Christmas when they will be dumped back in our laps for another vacation.

A new electronic meter can analyze the feelings of as many as 120 persons simultaneously and show the composite result on a dial. It is being used in tests on group opinion, film preview testing and radio audiences.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Sinus Infections

Few symptoms are better recognized by the average man or woman than those of acute sinus infection — blocking of the nasal passages, discharge from the nose, headache and sometimes, swelling on one or both sides of the face.

Every one of them, however, may be produced by a totally different disorder—an abscess at the root of one of the teeth. Thus when these symptoms occur, both possibilities should be considered. Examination of the nose should not be neglected on the assumption that all the trouble is due to the teeth, since both sinus infection and tooth infection may be present at the same time.

Then, too, neglected infection at the root of an upper tooth may break through into the cavity of what is known as the maxillary sinus and cause a very obstinate infection there.

Two sets of sinuses or cavities connected with the nose, the maxillary, located in the cheek bones, and the frontal, situated in the center of the forehead, frequently are the seat of the trouble. Infection in either of them will cause headache in the area just over the frontal sinuses but the pain varies, depending on which sinus is affected.

In cases of inflammation of the frontal sinuses, pain is rhythmic, that is, it comes and goes at regular intervals, rising and subsiding in its own peculiar tempo.

Pain due to inflammation of the maxillary sinus does not have this rhythmic ebb and flow, but maintains a steady pressure.

A number of methods can be used to determine as to when sinus infection is present. One of these is called transillumination. This consists of showing a light through the sinuses on two sides and determining whether the light passes through with less intensity on one side than on the other. X-ray examination is of great assistance in making the diagnosis and showing just which sinuses are involved and to what extent.

In treating the acute sinus infection, surgical procedures must be avoided unless they are absolutely necessary. Even if surgery is necessary, penicillin should be given in large doses both before and after operation.

The majority of cases of acute sinus infection will clear up if the sinus is draining freely and treatment with penicillin is carried out.

In helping to establish drainage, the drug known as ephedrine hydrochloride in a salt solution with or without the addition of cocaine seems to give satisfactory results. This can be used every two or three hours in an atomizer. Sometimes, washing the nasal passages with a weak alkaline solution will aid in getting rid of thick secretions which do not drain out.

Penicillin has largely supplanted the sulfonamide drugs in the treatment of acute sinus infection. It can be injected locally into the sinus or given by injection into a muscle. It is necessary to give large doses at frequent intervals to keep the amount in the blood up to the necessary level.

Marriage Vows Read in Church At Caledonia

CALEDONIA Memorial Methodist church was the scene of the wedding Sunday, Sept. 7, of Miss June Winifred Landes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion N. Landes of east of Caledonia, and Garland D. Lynn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lynn of Madisonville, Ky. The couple repeated their vows at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before the altar decorated with palms, a large basket of white gladioli and lighted candles in two seven branch candelabra. Rev. S. E. Kaetzel, pastor, officiated.

A half-hour program of nuptial music was presented preceding the ceremony by Mrs. John Salisbury of Marion, organist, and Lowell Douce of Caledonia, vocalist. Mrs. Salisbury played "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," Herbert, "Oh Promise Me," DeKoven, "I Love You Truly," Bond, "Always," Berlin, and "One Alone," Romberg. At the close of the ceremony Mr. Douce sang "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin styled with a fitted bodice with a sheer net yoke and long fitted sleeves which ended in points over the hands. The bouffant skirt extended into a long train and her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and for something "old" she wore a diamond brooch, which was her father's gift to her mother at their wedding. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and mums, centered with a corsage of white roses.

Mrs. William McCormick, the bride's only attendant, was attired in a gown of peacock blue taffeta with matching mitts, and carried a bouquet of shell pink carnations.

Major Lee Burham served as best man and ushers were Kenneth Landes and Jack Graham, cousins of the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception for 75 guests at their home. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Shirley Cain, Mrs. Orville Landes, Mrs. Dana McCroskey, Mrs. Charles Rieser and Mrs. Ira Kimble.

The couple repeated their vows at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before the altar of the First Evangelical United Brethren church decorated with bouquets of white gladioli, palms, and lighted candles in two seven-branch candelabra. Her fingertip length veil was held by a tiara of orange blossoms, and she carried a lace handkerchief which her sister-in-law carried at her wedding. Her jewelry was a triple strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of white roses centered with a purple orchid.

Lausche Is Undecided On Plans for Next Year

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12—Commenting on published reports that he would "definitely run for governor in 1948," former Gov. Frank J. Lausche asserted today he had "not made up my mind what I will do in regard to the 1948 election campaigns."

'My judgment on the matter of running for an office has not been reached" the ex-Ohio chief executive said.

"I have told other Democrats whose names have been mentioned as possible gubernatorial candidates that they should not delay the development of the strength of their candidacy," Lausche continued. "I have told them they were at liberty to build their strength. I didn't want them to remain inactive because of my status."

MARGINS FOR GRAIN TRADING INCREASED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 12—Margin requirements for futures trading on the Chicago board of trade were increased, effective tomorrow, for the second time within a week to keep pace with sharply advanced grain prices.

The revisions a customary procedure when prices rise or fall over wide ranges, were announced by board of trade directors after the close of trading yesterday. They raised the margins on wheat, corn and barley 10 cents a bushel, oats 5 cents a bushel, and soybeans 25 cents a bushel.

The minimum requirements for trading in these grains thus were fixed at 45 cents a bushel for wheat and corn, 50 cents for barley, 25 cents for oats, and 75 cents for soybeans.

Directors pointed out, however that the requirements by many individual commission houses still are well above those fixed as minimums by the board. Some commission houses, they added require 60 cents a bushel margin for wheat futures trading and 55 cents a bushel for corn.

Although the action was taken shortly after Senator Flanders (R-Vt) had expressed belief in Washington that the margins should be 100 per cent, a board spokesman said the revisions were "not inspired or influenced by any statements in the public press."

"It always has been the policy of the board to change margins as considered necessary for the best interest and protection of a free open and competitive market," Richard Uhlmann, first vice president of the board, said.

OHIO CONGRESSMAN BEGINS WORLD TOUR

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Rep. Earl Lewis (R-Ohio) was to sail from San Francisco today for Honolulu on the first leg of a round-the-world tour at his own expense.

With his wife and their son, Richard, Lewis arrived on the west coast a few days ago starting the longest trip he ever made, aides in his office here said.

The journey isn't entirely for pleasure. The Ohio member of the house judiciary committee intends also to gather information about world commerce, particularly in the Far East.

He said in an interview that he did not expect his surveys to soften his strong sentiments against "easy" international trade involving competition with American workers and industries.

Lewis has introduced legislation to assure import tariffs high enough, as he put it, to give the American market at least an even break in competition with commodities produced by low-cost labor abroad and shipped to the United States.

He said any reciprocal trade arrangement permitting large imports of ceramics should be forbidden by congress when the lawmakers end the current recess.

"Any such agreement," he said, "would cripple the pottery industry in Ohio and elsewhere."

After Honolulu, Lewis heads for Shanghai.

cepted the bankrupt and bankrupting British policies in Greece and Turkey."

Blasts Drive Toward War

Decrying what he termed the Democratic administration's attempt "to out red-bait the red-baiting Republicans," Wallace said he refused to believe that rank and file Democrats "stand for the bi-partisan attitude on abridgement of civil liberties and the insensate drive toward war."

"Unless I am definitely and positively wrong, I shall work within the Democratic party," he said.

"There will be charged that we are out to dominate the Democratic party," he added, "but it will be more accurate to say that we are out to prevent the Democratic party from committing suicide."

Wallace declared that the present foreign policy of the United States "defends reaction in the name of freedom," and "the sooner it is revealed in its true colors the better our chances for avoiding war and the high price of wasteful preparations."

AID

Harriman himself as well as other members of the committee, declared emphatically no such drastic measures as the declaration of a limited national emergency have been considered by the committee.

Sums Up Approach

Harriman summed up the approach of the 19-man group to the problem of providing American supplies to Europe in these words:

"We want to interfere as little as possible with normal business transactions, but there will have to be certain government supervision to deal with that subject and to minimize the effect on our own economy."

Harriman announced that former Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, a member of the committee, has been named to head a subcommittee assigned the task of making recommendations on how the American end of the Marshall program should be administered.

This assignment seemed certain to raise speculation that LaFollette eventually might be considered for the job of administrator of the entire program.

MARION FIRE CHIEF AT SAFETY MEETING

Gov. Herbert Calls Conference in Columbus.

Owen A. Silfrit, Marion fire chief, left for Columbus today to attend the safety conference meeting called by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert. According to an Associated Press report from Columbus today, the conference was called for an "aggressive all-year-round" fire prevention program for Ohio.

"Our objective is a fire safety committee within every community of this state," Herbert told some 300 Ohio fire chiefs, safety directors, mayors, civic club leaders and insurance agents, as the meeting opened.

The gathering was the first safety conference sponsored by the Ohio fire safety committee which the governor appointed last July.

Fire caused 407 deaths in Ohio last year and 4,034 in the past 10 years, he stated in a prepared speech. Property loss from fire in the state during the last decade was given as $138,450,972.

Three laws enacted by the last legislature should "greatly assist enforcement activities throughout the state," the governor said.

The legislation reorganized the state fire marshal's division and established for the first time an arson bureau, a fire prevention bureau and a rural fire protection branch.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat
It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

ONE WORLD OR NONE CALLED U.S. CHOICE

Y's Men Hear Talk by Wesley Methodist Pastor.

"America's Choice—One World or None" was the subject of the talk given by Dr. Edwin A. Brown, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, at a dinner meeting of the Y's Men's club Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A.

Declaring that the United States and Russia must work and strive to live together in one world, Dr. Brown said that complete support and fulfillment of the United Nations program is absolutely essential.

Dr. Brown voiced disapproval of the Truman doctrine, which includes providing arms to foreign nations as preparation against war. This he viewed as a policy serving to increase the fears and suspicions of Russia which have been stirred by the growing military means of the so-called capitalistic countries.

Although he made it clear that he does not approve Russia's attitude, Dr. Brown also indicated he could see why that country should have feelings of fear and suspicions. He reviewed the rapid developments in world travel and communication since before the first World War and leading up to the atomic bomb and other weapons of warfare. Dr. Brown stated that there is no possible way for the United States and Russia to escape each other in this kind of world.

Plans were completed for the model plane meet to be held Sunday at the Marion municipal airport by the Prop Busters club. The Y's Men's club is sponsoring the event.

Guests were Mrs. Geneva Switzer, hostess of Club Co-Ed, P. Loveland and Robert Graney of Marion, and Carlos Bailey of Columbus.

2 OHIO CITIES FIGHT PRICES

Only Springfield, Toledo Report Organized Resistance To Food Costs.

By The Associated Press

Only two Ohio cities—Toledo and Springfield—could report organized opposition to steadily rising food prices today.

With some quarters reporting butter price advances of as much as six cents a pound during the last week, the average increase for eggs per dozen in the last seven days was four cents with a two cents average for a quart of milk.

A determined woman at Springfield started a chain telephone campaign to organize a buyers' strike and at Toledo, housewives, Inc., planned a similar program.

Urge Picket Lines

Ministers got behind the Springfield leader and the Toledo joint Council of Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store employes urged mass picket lines in addition to a buyers' strike.

But factors that indicate future prices foreshadowed continued rise.

At Cleveland a new price record of $30 a hundredweight was set as 160 to 250-pound hogs bested the $29.50 mark set last March.

The 1947 corn crop for Ohio is expected to be but three-quarters of the 1946 crop and 16 per cent under the 10-year average.

The Ohio crop reporting service estimates the 1947 crop at 132,-084,000 bushels against the 178,-409,000 of 1946.

Youngstown reported butter and eggs up four cents over last week's prices, with little apparent buyer resistance.

"Economy Beef Cuts"

Toledo noted appearance of "economy grade" beef cuts but stores reported no reduced buying. Milk is 15 cents a quart, top grade eggs, 65 to 70 cents, and top grade beef chuck roast sells at 65 cents a pound.

Akron's butter sells for 97 cents this week against 91 cents last week, eggs cost up to 79 cents, steaks $1.20 a pound—with choice sirloins at $1.50, 10 cents above last week's price.

Cleveland's butter price is 93 cents, up four cents, but no organized resistance was noted.

Butter at Columbus sold for 84 cents a pound, an advance of three cents. Bacon and pork chops also advanced three cents to 73 cents and 85 cents a pound respecively.

MURDER TRIAL HITS SNAG IN JURY CALL

By The Associated Press

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., Sept. 12—Defense attorneys were on record today as opposing a change of venue in the Ross murder trial, despite difficulties in obtaining a jury.

Three groups of talesmen, totalling 207 New Braunfels and Comal county citizens, yielded only 10 jurors. Yesterday only one man was accepted from 60 prospective jurors.

Judge J. R. Fuchs adjourned court after a night session and said he would decide today whether he would order a new list of talesmen from which to try for the two jurors needed, or move the trial to another community.

Fred Blundell, leading defense counsel, immediately protested. He said the defense wanted the trial held in New Braunfels, and believed Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, charged with the May 25 murder of four members of the York family near here, could obtain a fair trial locally.

The star witness for the state is expected to be 13-year-old Ann York, the only member of the York family to escape the ambush slaying which took the lives of her father, Willard York, 39, her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Q. York, 43; her brother John, 9, and her grandmother, Mrs. Mary York, 67, all formerly of Scranton, Pa.

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL SEASON TO OPEN TONIGHT

7 Runs in Ninth Give Cubs 12-11 Victory Over Muncie

A double by Dwight Maxhimer with two out in the ninth scored Roy Hollingshead and John Smith to climax a big seven-run rally and give the Cubs a 12-11 win over Muncie last night at Lincoln park.

Going into the ninth the Packers were leading the Cubs 11-5. The Cubs came to life while three Muncie pitchers had trouble getting the ball over the plate. Starting pitcher Al Comotti, who had already allowed the Cubs 12 hits, lost his stuff and was knocked out of the box. Wally Post took over for the faltering Comotti and proceeded to walk three men in a row in addition to a wild pitch. His last walk put the winning run on base and he was thereby tagged with the loss.

Ray Trava took up the burden with the bases full and one out and got John Smith to force a man at third.

Then Maxhimer drove a pitch from Trava to the wall in right center scoring Hollingshead and Smith. Smith crossed the plate just a second before Max was out at third trying for a triple, but the play did not get in the books as the game was over.

Bert Flammini started for the Cubs but wildness forced his removal in the third. John Edington had the same trouble and was relieved by John Graney. Graney got credit for the win, his fourth against two losses.

The two clubs tangle in the final game of the season with each other tonight, unless they meet in the playoffs which looks likely. Jills Lawrence will twirl for the Cubs and Eddie Post is expected to get the call for Muncie.

Squirrel Hunting Season To Commence Saturday

COLUMBUS, Sept. 12 — The squirrel hunting season opens Saturday at dawn and thousands of hunters in Ohio planned to take to the woods.

Conservation officials said there is a fair crop of squirrels but because of the scarcity of nuts in some localities the hunting will be spotty. The daily bag limit is four squirrels.

The season, which ends Saturday, Sept. 27, applies to the entire state this year. The state is not zoned.

The conservation division asked all hunters to wear bright red clothing, move carefully in the woods, and handle their weapons with care.

A hunting license in the state costs $1.25 and runs from Sept. 1, 1947, to Aug. 31, 1948.

Oldtime Champ To Sneer At Delaware Race Horses

By International News Service

DELAWARE, Sept. 12 — Greyhound, 15-year-old trotting champ of yesteryear, will look over the field at Delaware's Grand Circuit meet next week.

E. J. Baker's big gelding, which holds seven world's records, will be driven onto the Delaware county race track by Doc Flannery, noted hackney pony trainer.

But the champ won't race. He will be on exhibition during the Monday-to-Friday meet and at the same time will probably cast a sorrowful eye at his successors as they race around the oval.

CLEVELAND DIVIDES BILL WITH BOSTON

Gordon Sets Tribe Homer Mark for Righthanders.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Sept. 12 — One day late, the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians will see what they can do today with that famous "battle for second place" that so far has failed to come off.

Yesterday's doubleheader, for all the loud hits and parade of 13 pitchers, proved to be only five hours of baseball, and probably the chief beneficiary was Joe (Flash) Gordon.

The Tribe's second baseman socked his 27th homer in the first game, punching home three runs for a 10-8 Cleveland victory and breaking the Cleveland record for right-handed hitters, which had been 26.

The second game lasted only five and a half innings because of darkness and Boston won that one 8-3 with 12 hits. Dave (Boo) Ferriss got the victory and was the only pitcher to start and finish all day.

World Series To Open in Yankee Stadium Sept. 30 If Bums Win, Oct. 1 If Cardinals

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12—The opening game of the 1947 World Series will be played in New York's Yankee stadium but whether the curtain goes up on the big baseball show Sept. 30 or Oct. 1 waits a decision in the current National league pennant scrap between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Should Brooklyn win, the series will open Sept. 30, but the inaugural contest will be the next day if the Cards triumph.

The series schedule and other details were announced yesterday after a meeting between Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler; Larry MacPhail, president of the New York Yankees, and representatives of the four top teams in the National league.

After the series meeting, Chandler led MacPhail into his office for a private conference with loquacious Larry presumably about certain statements attributed to him in connection with the suspension of former Brooklyn Manager Leo Durocher—a subject on which the commissioner ordered all concerned, including MacPhail, to keep mum.

Chandler had MacPhail on the green carpet of his inner sanctum for 55 minutes. When they emerged the story from both was the same as after a similar session last April—"no comment."

If Brooklyn qualifies for the World Series, the seven games, if necessary, will be played in as many days. The first two games will be in Yankee stadium, the next three on Brooklyn's Ebbetts' field and the remaining two in the Yankees' park.

Should St. Louis win, the first two games will be played in New York Oct. 1 and 2. There will be no game the next day to permit the teams to travel to St. Louis for the next three contests, Oct. 4, 5 and 6. Should the series go the distance, Oct. 7 will be an open date, with the teams returning to New York for the last two games, Oct. 8 and 9.

Postponed games will be played in the same park as originally scheduled. A tie game will be played off in the same park where the seventh game is played, with a day interval for sale of tickets.

Game time will be 1:30 p. m. (in the time zone of the home team), except for Sunday, Oct. 5 —should Brooklyn oppose the Yanks—when the game will start at 2:05 p. m.

FOREST LAWN WINS PLAYOFF OPENER

Edges Trinity, 9 to 8; Tong Takes Moose, 10-6.

Forest Lawn turned on the heat in the last of the seventh last night, going one up on Trinity for the Sunday School league championship with a 9-8 victory at Crystal Lake park.

Each of these teams won round titles and this was the first game of the set to decide the champion. Forest Lawn needs one more victory to clinch things while Trinity will have to get two. Although Trinity pitcher Rice gave up only four hits he kept himself in hot water by issuing 10 walks. Hits by Wilcox and Miner scored Young and Spurlock with the game's tieing and winning runs.

In the home run department French and Mulvaine each got one for Trinity and Myers got one for Forest Lawn.

The other game of the night resulted in a 10-6 Tong Implement win over Moose Lodge. John Ward homered for Tong and Walters did for the Moose.

Next week, with Forest Lawn and Trinity in line for the Sunday school league crown and Schlairet and Moose in line for the Commercial title, playoff games will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at Crystal Lake.

Harding To Entertain Fostoria; Irish To Visit Delaware Willis

Harding and St. Mary High schools open their 1947 football seasons tonight, the Presidents at home and the Irish away.

With the yard stripes freshly painted in Harding stadium, and the 80-piece Harding band prepared for pre-game and half-time shows, the Presidents are all set to entertain Fostoria High school under the lights tonight. Prexy Coach Pete Howison expects Fostoria to be one of Harding's toughest opponents this year. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Prexies are shooting for their first victory since 1945.

Fostoria plans to send a crowd of 1,000 persons to the game, D. N. Bobyer, Harding athletic director, said today. Fostoria yesterday placed an order for 600 student tickets and 400 adult tickets.

The Irish leave for Delaware to meet the Willis High Panthers in a night game.

Both teams are about equal in weight, but the Irish have the edge in experience with 10 of last year's team in the lineup. Only one Panther letterman returned to the Willis squad.

The Irish will be working for their first football victory over Willis High. Game starts at 8 p. m.

Fesler Stresses O.S.U. T-Formation Offense

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—The variable offense of the T-formation was stressed by Coach Wesley Fesler today as he pushed the Ohio State university football squads through their second week of practice.

Emphasizing the close coordination necessary between center and quarterback to make the offensive work, Fesler rotated those duties yesterday.

Pandel Savic of Girard, a sophomore, Tommy Phillips of Berea, and Pete Perini of Washington, N. J., did the signal calling work for the first two strings yesterday.

BLACKWELL MAY NOT PITCH AGAIN IN 1947

Doctors To Decide Today If Injury Has Healed.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12—Here's a bit of bad news for Cincinnati Reds fans and the fellows who count the change in the club's front office:

Ewell Blackwell may not pitch another game this season.

Whether "Blackie," whose 21-8 record puts him ahead of the pack in the major leagues takes another turn on the mound this campaign will be decided today and tomorrow when Dr. Richard J. Rhode, team physician and trainer, pulls the tape off a pulled muscle in the tall right-hander's left shoulder.

Blackwell was confined to bed in his apartment yesterday as the Reds edged the New York Giants, 3-2, behind Ken Raffensberger's seven-hit pitching.

Johnny Mize spoiled Raffensberger's bid for a shutout by clouting his 47th round-tripper of the season in the eighth.

According to hospital authorities, he was suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, a possible fracture of the nose and abrasions.

Dodgers Edge Cards, 4-3, Virtually To Clinch Flag

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn's dashing Dodgers never were in a better position to win the National league pennant than they were today following their victory in the biggest game of the year for them.

Yesterday was the game the Dodgers had to win, and they did with a 4-3 licking in St. Louis which put the Dodgers five and a half games up on the Cardinals.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, with a record of 15 and nine, went down to his 10th defeat as he failed to survive the eighth inning. The crushing blow was a pinch, bases-loaded, single by Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto which scored Carl Furillo with the run that broke a 3-3 tie.

The idea how tough the situation is for the Cards: even should the Redbirds win 12 of their remaining 18 games, a splendid .667 pace, the Dodgers can sew it up by winning only six of 15, a lowly .400 gait.

Yesterday's tense struggle was witnessed by 29,452. Brecheen was opposed by 21-year-old Ralph Branca, who gained his 20th victory. After the Dodgers had gone ahead 4-3 in the top of the eighth, Branca was slugged for two successive singles in the bottom half of the inning and was replaced by Hank Behrman.

In the prelim Billy Wilson won over Bob Curtis in 12 minutes. Wilson and Curtis are just getting started in professional wrestling.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis came from behind last night in a free scoring slugging match to win its initial victory in the semi-final American association playoffs from Louisville, 13-8. For the second straight night rain forced postponement of the other semi-final series between Milwaukee and Kansas City.

Cardington Nears Start of First Grid Season Since 1910

A dark horse among district grid teams, with absolutely nothing in the way of former season records, returning lettermen or even a coach's record, to base pre-game predictions on, turned up with the announcement that Cardington High school has scheduled a seven-game football season starting Sept 26 when Cardington meets Centerburg under the lights now being installed over the Cardington field

Breaking into inter-scholastic football for the first time since 1910, the Cardington Pirates will set sail under the command of Coach Dennis Bell himself a newcomer in the football-coaching field having just graduated from Defiance college last January.

Boasting a speedy backfield which oddly enough outweigh the line Coach Bell thinks the Pirates stand a good chance of making a big splash in their initial plunge in the realm of football Backs Paul Bowman, Henry Newcomer, and Alton Roach look like regulars, and linemen Bill Maxwell, Don Bowman Carl Dean, Harold Dean, Lewis Hevering, Roy Robinson, and Carl Stephen will probably start for the Pirates

Two Pirate opponents, Dublin and Mt Sterling are also new to football this year.

Both the Mohican and the Mid-State leagues have invited the baby Cardington team to join them, but the Pirates have made made no decision as yet

Cardington schedule Sept 26, Centerburg, Oct 10 at Sunbury Oct 17, Dublin, Oct 24 at Mt Sterling, Oct. 30, Belleville, Nov 7 at West Jefferson, and Nov 14, Mt Gilead.

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 11—The race that became a national feature in just one year storms into the harness racing picture as Grand Circuit racing comes to Delaware, the last stop before the climax meeting at Lexington. The race is the Little Brown Jug for three year old pacers, richest of the year for horses of that age and gait. The Little Brown Jug may hit the $40,000 mark If it does it will rank with the Roosevelt two mile second richest race for pacers of any classification exceeded only by the $50 000 Golden West Pace at Hollywood

Marion Group Returns From Scout Convention

Six Marion residents returned Wednesday night from Bloomington, Ind., where they attended the Boy Scout eighth national convention at the University of Indiana.

Representing the Harding Area were Hugh Hay, Scout executive, Karl Bechtle, and Owen Meddick, field executives. Their wives accompanied them for the week's activities.

Main purpose of the convention was to plan for an increase in scout enrollment in the coming years. According to the five-year plan presented, officials hope to have the enrollment increased to three million Scouts and workers.

Daily classes were held during the training conference and new methods and ideas for improved Scout work were studied. The social portion of the convention included a buffalo and antelope supper.

4-H Club Activity Keeps County Boys and Girls Busy All Year

By MARY HERRING

From the time county schools close for summer vacation until the new fall term starts news about the 4-H club activities may be seen almost daily in The Star.

The items tell of advisors, projects and demonstrations. Few persons not connected with 4-H work however think much about the youth clubs except once a year.

Each year as the county residents stroll through the exhibition booths of the Marion county fair, they stop and comment on the excellent displays arranged by the various 4-H club members.

The style show held annually by the girls of the clubs is just one of highlights of the county event. On one day the youngsters take over for Junior Fair day and that is when 4-H-ers can really display their handiwork or exhibit their prize cattle or poultry.

Even then some of the spectators fail to realize that the displays and exhibits were made and arranged by young boys and girls and the animals showed really presents a climax of 52 weeks of hard work for the youngsters. The average age of the members is 12 or 13 years.

Age limit for members is 10 through 20 years, however the majority are in their early teens.

38 Clubs In County

Thirty-eight clubs are active in Marion county, 21 of which are girls clubs, 17 are boys. Total membership for the girls is 313 and boys membership stands at 250.

Each club has at least one advisor. In the county there are 31 women and 10 men advisors.

Lloyd Lutz, 4-H advisor for the county supervises all activities with the help of Miss Mary Faye McMillan, county home demonstration agent. The two make regular calls on each of the clubs as often as possible and give any assistance necessary.

Although the girls and boys are supervised in their activities, the work is actually their own no matter what type is might be.

Evidence of their extensive planning and resourcefulness was displayed at the recent fair, both in the art building where the various booths were arranged and also in the Junior Fair show of livestock.

Displays Take Form

On the opening day of the fair, the building was bare of any organized displays. Odd colored streamers and bits of paper littered the floor and the pounding of hammers could be heard but the interior appeared to be a shambles.

On the following day however, that shambles had given way to the sight which later impressed the spectators.

Many of the exhibits depicted the club's interpretation of the 4-H motto, the head, heart, hand and health. All booths were decorated in green and white club colors but each was differently arranged so that although the same colors were used, no two looked the same.

Many of the clubs followed through on their individual projects. For instance, one homemaking club had on display a completely furnished girl's bedroom. Some of the sewing clubs of course displayed their handiwork, one exceptionally clever arrangement was the comparison between a well dressed girl and one who was carelessly dressed. Dress models were used for these and the careless draped form had a slip showing, a hem half torn, dirty shoes, etc.

The style show surprised many of those who watched when garments with a professional look were modeled by the girls who made them. From time to time you may have read the sentence, "Projects were worked on," but one doesn't stop to think what is behind that until the actual "project" is displayed.

The show was over in an afternoon and winners were judged, but each girl who worked and planned through the year on her garment could well be proud of her handiwork even though she was not awarded top prizes.

The same holds true for the club members who have raised and tended livestock for the annual exhibit. The judging is over in a comparatively short time, but the actual job of having an animal good enough to enter has meant hour after hour of daily care, not just a brief time.

Evidence of the care taken of animals could be seen at the fair when the owners busied themselves grooming and polishing and tending to their entry.

Throughout the year, although the club reports are small, the county boys and girls are really doing big things in preparation for the climaxing event of the year when they can show the grown-ups that they are capable of taking over in various adult jobs.

Of all projects agriculture and dairy is the most popular with 77 specializing in it. Ten girls are in the division. Other projects and the number of members in each are as follows: beef, 41; swine, 40; poultry, 27; sheep, 40; rabbits, 25; woodwork, 7; farm electricity, 4; flower gardens, 12; corn, 7; soy beans, 5 and oats, 5.

Jums' Jackie Robinson Named Rookie of Year

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12—Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' 28-year-old Negro first baseman, was given the Sporting News' rookie of the year award today.

The choice of Robinson, described by Editor J. G. Taylor Spring as "spectacularly outstanding," was on the basis of "stark baseball values" the paper said.

Robinson joined the Dodgers last April from Montreal. He has hit down 42 successful bunts, 14 of them beaten out for hits and 9 sacrifices. His stolen base total is 25. And he has hit 10 home runs. He ran his batting average up to .377 in June when he exhibited a 21-game hitting streak, dropped to .253 in July and during August hit at a .311 clip. His present average is .297.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MARY did not answer my question for several seconds, although the long shuddering breaths she took as she leaned against me, with my arms around her, told me that she was sorely distraught.

I did not hurry her, and spoke no further word. But I smoothed her hair with the stroking I had used when she was a child, and used to cry out her small sorrows in my arms, and finally she grew quieter, took her hands from her eyes and straightened herself in my arms.

"I'm the world's biggest heel," she said, in bitter self-accusation; "also the world's worst coward."

"Suppose you let me be the judge of that," I said quietly. "At least, tell me what you mean."

"I was all steamed up over this baby proposition," she said slowly. "I wanted a child, just as much as Noel did. But I've been thinking over something he said at breakfast this morning, and I—I—don't like it."

"Ought you tell me?" I asked.

"I don't know," she answered slowly. "Yes, I do too. Perhaps you can make some sense of it."

She took a deep breath as if gathering courage for the revelation.

Said Several Things

"He said several thing," she began. "At the time I thought he was excited, and talking at random, but now they seem to fit into a pattern."

She stopped, and I felt my fists clench in impatience.

"He said, for one thing," she went on slowly, "'Will I ever have to work hard to make up for what he'll lose?' Then, another time, he said with infinite admiration in his voice: 'There never will be such a sacrifice as you will have made for him!' And a little later, he said: 'You're sure you'll never regret the decision.' And I wasn't conscious of having made any decision except to have a child as soon as I should be well enough to have one!

"The more I think about those things he said," she went on after a little, "the more I'm afraid they did have a pattern in his mind."

She leaned forward and caught my hands in a steely grip, and I realized with alarm that the hands were icy.

"What do you read into them, Auntie Madge?" she pleaded. "Tell me!"

For a panic-stricken instant, I wanted to wrench my hands from her cold ones and flee anywhere to avoid answering her frantic question.

Then, from somewhere within me, sanity came to me, although there was no sanity in the hot anger against Noel Verltren which blazed in my soul, at the same time that I faced the necessity of giving a truthful answer to her question.

Only One Answer

"I am afraid, Mary," I said at last, "there is but one answer to your question, and I hate very much to give it to you."

"'In the language of the old novelists, do you mean that it will sear my heart?'" she asked, but I sensed the desperation and the anguish that lay beneath her flippancy.

"'No. I do not think you are that weak,' I told her, with planned callousness. "But you are not going to like my answer, although I think you already have answered it for yourself."

She looked at me steady, but her eyes now were showing the dread that was in her.

"Yes, I fancy I have," she said. "But go on. Tell me what you have figured out."

Head in the Clouds

"Simply this," I said. "Your husband's head is in the clouds. He is seeing things from an unreal and highly romantic position. He believes that you are ready to sacrifice your stage career to motherhood, and that you never will act a role again."

Her eyes were boring into mine now.

"Yes, that is the way I read what he was saying," she said. "And now you know why I feel like a heel and a coward. I do want a child terribly. And if I thought there was no other way, I cheerfully would say goodbye forever to the theater. But isn't there any compromise, Aunt Madge? Is Noel's position right?"
